

Italiano –Settembre 2014

We continue with our greetings songs.

I am confident that soon everybody will be able to join me as soon as I start:

Buongiorno, buongiorno
Buongiorno a tutti quanti
Buongiorno buongiorno buongiorno
Eccomi qua!

We clap hands, we stamp feet and we go around the tables when I feel that moving is more conducive for singing.

I keep my songs short and simple
Over and over again we go in circle with

Giro giro tondo
Casca il mondo
Casca la terra
Tutti giu' per terra!

With older children

We looked at some famous bridges in Italy (thank you Harry for bringing great pictures of Venice!) and we talked of a city where street do not exist, or better said-street are made of water-and so people have to move around with boats.

Ponte – Acqua – Canali – Venezia

This past week we had a chance to talk about the Torre di Pisa

“What does a torre(tower) look like? “

And this tower is leaning...but it has not fallen yet!!

It's always fun to talk about the leaning tower and then to sing the song

Evviva la torre di Pisa
Che pende che pende
E mai non vien giu'!!

ARRIVEDERCI.
